Hi John,

Yes, the storage area seems to be working well. In fact, we are taking a tour of it on Friday. I think the best person to talk to is Mark Loranger or Trevor Kale of Chrysalis. They are the contractor that is managing the space. They are also our clean program vendor. As I understand it, the biggest issue is that we may be running out of space soon.

I've cc'd Trevor and Mark on this email.

Talk to you soon

Rena

We are looking at storage lockers and as a mitigation for possible new ordinances that limit the quantity and time of objects on the sidewalk in Berkeley.

I see in a recent Huffington Post article, that Downtown LA has a homeless lockers program. Do you know if that is the case? Has the program worked well? Is there someone we can talk to who administers the program about best practices with such program?

Thanks, John
